Sienna's Story

Sienna came to us in Year 10 and arrived lacking numerous qualities that would have empowered her natural charge towards end-of-year success. Largely, she lacked academic confidence, was extremely self-conscious having missed a considerable amount of schooling.

She lacked social skills and had been excluded from six provisions since year 7. She lacked the organisational ability to plan a strategic assault on potential qualifications.

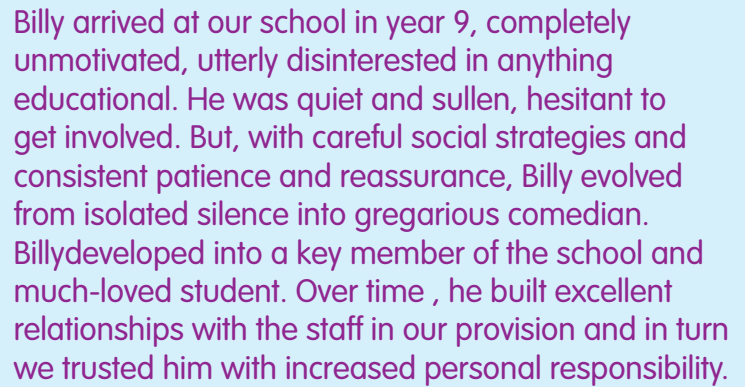

However, we could see a glimmer of potential and that glimmer was enough for us to jump into action and work closely with her to bridge many of those gaps.

Throughout her time with us, we worked tirelessly to put a structure in place that would strengthen her academic confidence. It was satisfying to watch her develop positively over 18 months. Her attendance was improved massively, having previously missed significant schooling elsewhere. After a frantic and anxious start in the work, she gingerly picked up the pace and with patient teaching, after a few months she improving her work in several subjects, particularly Art and Design.

She will leave our provision with several key qualifications, gaining the all-valuable grades in GCSE English and Maths, BTECs in Art, Design, Food Tech and ICT.

More importantly, she will leave with a crucial skillset she lacked in when she first arrived here, that will serve her well in life. A higher confidence in herself and in her own potential to achieve. She has already signed up to a Hair and Beauty course at her local college and is excited to see what more she can achieve.

Billy remained largely opposed to academics and in some subjects was difficult to motivate. However, through careful management, we always maintained his engagement, his behaviour was good and his attendance was outstanding.

Billy suffered some personal trauma, losing his dad after a long battle with illness and the school played its part in the healing process, being a constant source of comfort, providing the consistency, compassion and familiarity he needed during that difficult time. We worked closely with mum at all times and gladly forged a very close partnership.

When Billy left us this academic year, he was rewarded for his commitment to the overall school ethos. He left with GCSE's in English and Maths, Entry Levels in Science and BTEC's in Construction and Food Tech PE.

Billy is now in college and enjoying his time in a BTEC Game Design Programming and Coding course. He has popped back a few times since he left and its always great to see him. Indeed, he brought his whole family to a school BBQ, which was lovely and has left with very fond memories and a developed sense of self.

Kayley's Story

Kayley arrived in Year 10 and was a frustrated, shy and self-conscious young lady. She'd missed significant schooling and been moved hundreds of miles from home to a care-home in an unfamiliar part of the country. She was nervous and felt isolated. She was nervous was adamant she would flop at school, due to her previous experiences. We recognised she did have some clear and identifiable aspirations that she wanted to achieve. We knew then, we could help her. We helped her with her goals and we understood what she needed to achieve them.

With a cautious and pastorally based approach her needs were met carefully yet structurally. It wasn't long before she was engaging in all subjects including the core subjects she had previously claimed he would struggle. With our 'whole student' approach, Kayley began to feel comfortable with her teachers, building relationships of trust and forming an educational partnership with staff that was warm and progressive. It was clear she craved those positive relationships and felt comforted by their classroom presence. Kayley progressed, quickly and had a clear purpose. With her goal in mind and an eye on a potential career in Hair and Beauty, Kayley stuck to the tasks-at-hand and despite some emotional bumps along the way, she persevered. It paid off.

Kayley will leave school this year with strong GCSE grades in Maths and English. With BTECS' in Art and Design, Pass rates in GCSE Entry Level Science and other BTECs in Food-Tech and Construction and a pass in ICT.

Kayley has subsequently and with considerable success, proved her worth at school to the extent her personal goals have been met to return home and has gained the self-confidence to return to her native area where she is already signed up to a High Level Hair and Make-Up course that she hopes will be the beginning of a road that will take her around the world.
