

First Day at College

We are delighted to share some fantastic news about G, who has worked incredibly hard in preparing for his very first day of college.

When G first joined us at Whinfell, he lacked the confidence and belief that attending a mainstream college would ever be possible for him.

Through his determination, resilience, and the progress he has made, G has grown in both confidence and ability, proving to himself just what he is capable of achieving.

This is a huge milestone, and we are so proud of all the effort he has put in.

Very well done, G – we are all very proud of you!
