

Cambian Hereford School's Christmas Pantomime – Fantastic Mr. Fox

In December, staff and students took part in Fantastic Mr. Fox: the pantomime. This was a fantastic show and every single pupil was involved in one way or another. For example, one pupil wrote the character of Pip Patrol- the nemesis of Phillis Mitchell the pub owner. This pupil wrote the script for this part of the pub scene and Pip had a real EastEnders flair!

Other pupils completed the set design by painting the backdrop, creating 3D chicken carcasses and mouldy doughnuts. Pupils also performed in the final show, and some even filled in at the very last minute!

It was a wonderful project in which the whole school community got involved. The final show was a great success and included songs, pantomime dames and a dance routine which all staff and pupils had contributed to. It really is wonderful to see the pupils at Cambian Hereford School be so committed to a creative project.
