

Good News Story for Stratford Lodge

Red Nose Day Litter Picking with Our Residents

Today was Red Nose Day and Stratford Lodge were committed to doing something “funny for money”. This afternoon, we combined our community engagement project with our fund raising and fancy dress to do just that!

One resident in particular has been working hard on her community engagement, so we went out around Victoria Park in Salisbury dressed in our costumes to raise money for Red Nose Day and Comic Relief.

Judging by the looks we got, I would definitely say we did something “funny for money”!

Registered Manager, Josh Hand, and Support Worker, Ben Knox, had donned their Hulk Hogan and a Hot Dog costumes with our Wiltshire Council Volunteer high vis jackets so everyone knew we were working hard for our community.

We walked over 2000 steps and spent a good hour having a laugh, getting sunshine, fresh air, exercise and making our local area a much cleaner and tidier place.

Everyone at Stratford Lodge is very proud of the work being done, we put smiles on the faces of all the people we met and supported our residents to do a great thing for their community... even if it was a little embarrassing at times!

We were able to raise £200 (so far) which is pretty great for our three-person home!
