Description of the week: This week the Koalas have been continuing their work around the rainforest, looking at the animals found in the rainforest and writing some facts they found the most interesting. They have also been looking at pictograms in the maths sessions, creating their own by asking staff and peers questions such as eye colour, pets they have at home and favourite fruit. In English they have listened to the story 'The ugly sharkling' and ordered the sequences of events in chronological order. Forest school this week have seen Koalas doing various Easter activities, decorating their own eggs and racing them down the hill as well as Easter egg hunts. In the Puffins' classroom this week they have finished writing their non-chronological reports all about Egypt in Literacy. In Maths they have introduced percentages as a type of fraction and then compared them with decimals and fractions. In History they have completed the interactive Power-points all about Ancient Egypt. Also, in Science they have carried out some work about the human digestion system. Meanwhile over in the Meerkats, they have been working on their money skills, learning about the rainforest for their topic. In Art they have also created a Canopic jar each which I know they had great fun in designing and getting messy with the clay. In cooking this week they have all made a type of Cake, this ranged from Victoria Sponge to Chocolate. The Smarties class in maths have been working on their money skills. They have been able to answer questions involving using the four operations and even worked out sale prices using their knowledge of percentages. In English, the children finished off their non-chronological reports about Ancient Egypt then they peer assessed each other's work. They were all very mature and were able to give some lovely feedback to their peers. Have a lovely Easter break and we shall see you in the Summer Term
