3. Definitions

Definition of Bullying

- 3.1. Bullying is an interaction between an individual or group of people with a more powerful individual or group which is perceived or intended to cause hurt, pain, suffering, humiliation or degradation and happens over a sustained period of time.
- 3.2. Bullying can be defined as a deliberate, unprovoked and a repeated (over time) action to intentionally humiliate, threaten, frighten or hurt an individual or group physically or emotionally. It is often motivated by prejudice against particular groups, for example, on grounds of race, religion and belief, culture, sex, gender, homophobia, special educational needs and disability (as defined in the Equality Act 2010), or because a child is adopted or is a carer. It may occur directly or through cyber-technology such as social websites, mobile phones, text messages, photographs and email. Bullying can occur through several types of anti-social behaviour. A feature of bullying in schools is that its existence is not always immediately known or suspected by those in authority. The school recognises the seriousness of both physical and emotional bullying in causing psychological damage and even suicide. Although bullying in itself is not a specific criminal act in the UK, some types of harassing or threatening behaviour or communications could be a criminal offence; for example, under the Protection from Harassment Act 1997, the Malicious Communications Act 1988, the Communications Act 2003 and the Public Order Act 1986. If our staff consider that an offence may have been committed, we will seek assistance from the police. As part of our Behaviour Policy Grateley House school believes that all children and adults have the right to live in a supportive, caring environment in which pupils feel safe and free from bullying and harassment that may include cyber-bullying and prejudice-based bullying related to special educational need, sexual orientation, sex, race, religion and belief, gender reassignment or disability (as defined in the Equality Act 2010), and the use of discriminatory language.
- 3.3. Bullying can be direct or indirect:
- 3.3.1. Direct forms include physical violence or threats; verbal assaults and taunts; the destruction of property; extortion and unwanted sexual interest or contact. Examples of indirect forms of bullying include ignoring and withdrawal of friendships; excluding and isolating young people; malicious gossip; offensive and threatening texting; spreading rumours and abusive or offensive graffiti. Bullying may also include being forced to become involved in criminal or anti-social behaviour.
 - 3.3.2. Emotional (indirect bullying) including isolation of others by a refusal to co-operate with them and exclusion - being unfriendly, excluding, tormenting (e.g. hiding books, threatening gestures), deliberately excluding from social groups or an activity by refusal to sit next to/ talk to/ work/ co-operate with others and refusal to follow staff instructions to do the above, or malicious rumours, e-mails or text messages, and also exclusion from play/discussions etc. with those whom they believe to be their friends.
 - 3.3.3. Physical harm or its threat including the abuse of personal property – jostling, serious fighting, pushing, kicking, hitting, taking or hiding belongings, punching or any use of violence; deliberately destroying or damaging work or possessions or removing personal property, use of weapons/threatening use of weapon (or any object which could be used as a weapon), intimidation through physical gestures and actions.
 - 3.3.4. Cyber – not occurring face to face but rather through electronic means including, but not limited to, social networking sites, internet and intranet sites, email, instant messaging, by mobile phone including through text messages and phone calls, photographs both real and manipulated and so on.
 - Increasingly, bullying is happening through new technology. This can involve sending inappropriate or hurtful text messages, emails or instant messages, posting malicious material online (e.g. on social networking websites) or sending or posting offensive or degrading images and videos. 'Cyberbullying' as it is often called, might take the form of 'real world' bullying being played out online. Situations may be deliberately engineered in order to photograph someone in a humiliating way and circulate this online. It can be particularly insidious because of the potential to follow children wherever they are, including in the home.
 - "Cyber-bullying is an aggressive, intentional act carried out by a group or individual, using electronic forms of contact, repeatedly over time against a victim who cannot easily defend him or herself." We recognise that the advent of cyber-bullying adds a new and worrying dimension to the problem of bullying as there no safe haven for the person being bullied. Unlike other forms of bullying, cyber-bullying can follow children and young people into their private spaces and outside school hours. Cyber-bullies can communicate their messages to a wide audience with remarkable speed, and can often remain unidentifiable and unseen. ICT may be used to send threatening pictures or messages to others.

- Seven categories of cyber-bullying have been identified:
 - Text message bullying involves sending unwelcome texts that are threatening or cause discomfort;
 - Picture/video-clip bullying via mobile phone cameras is used to make the person being bullied feel threatened or embarrassed, with images usually sent to other people. 'Happy slapping' involves filming and sharing physical attacks;
 - Phone call bullying via mobile phone uses silent calls or abusive messages. Sometimes the bullied person's phone is stolen and used to harass others, who then think the phone owner is responsible. As with all mobile phone bullying, the perpetrators often disguise their numbers, sometimes using someone else's phone to avoid being identified;
 - Email bullying uses email to send bullying or threatening messages, often using a pseudonym for anonymity or using someone else's name to pin the blame on them.
 - Online grooming, Chat room and Social Networking Site abuse involves sending menacing or upsetting responses to children or young people.
 - Bullying through instant messaging (IM) is an Internet-based form of bullying where children and young people are sent unpleasant messages as they conduct real-time conversations online;
 - Bullying via websites includes the use of defamatory blogs (web logs), personal websites and online personal polling sites. There has also been a significant increase in social networking sites for young people, which can provide new opportunities for cyber-bullying.
- Because of the anonymity that new communications technologies offer, anyone with a mobile phone or Internet connection can be a target for cyber-bullying. Furthermore, bullies can reach much larger numbers within a peer group than they can with conventional bullying. Vindictive comments posted on a website, for instance, can be seen by a large audience, as can video clips sent by mobile phone. Most cyber-bullying is done by children of the same age. Although it leaves no visible scars, cyber-bullying of all types can be extremely destructive. Research has found that:
 - Between a fifth and a quarter of children have been cyber-bullied at least once over the previous few months;
 - Phone calls, text messages and email are the most common forms of cyber-bullying;
 - There is more cyber-bullying outside school than in;
 - Girls are more likely than boys to be involved in cyber-bullying in school, usually by phone;
 - For boys, text messaging is the most usual form of cyber-bullying, followed by picture/video clip or website bullying;
 - Picture/video clip and phone call bullying are perceived as the most harmful forms of cyber-bullying;
 - Website and text bullying are equated in impact to other forms of bullying;
 - Around a third of those being cyber-bullied tell no one about the bullying.

3.4. Cambian Children's Services takes all form of bullying seriously and is particularly concerned to take action in relation to incidents which include racist, sexist, disability or homophobic elements. In these cases such issues will be specifically addressed with the bully (and his / her parent / carer / staff as appropriate) in the course of incident management.

- Racist - Bullying directed at individuals of a certain race, culture, ethnicity, language, faith, community, national origin or national status. The distinctive feature of racist bullying is that the victim is attacked not as an individual but as the representative of a family, community or group. This is an area where schools are required to keep statistics about incidents.
- Cultural – focusing on and/or playing off perceived cultural differences or similar. Sexist – covers a wide range of behaviour from name calling to physical sexual assault. It is the use of sexual language or negative stereotyping on the basis of gender. Sexual - is unwanted or inappropriate physical contact or sexual innuendo.
- Homophobic - This is bullying which is directed towards people who are openly gay, bisexual, are perceived as gay, or show characteristics. Heterosexual young people subject to homophobic bullying are less reluctant to report it as this may enforce the stereotypical way that they are already viewed by others so sensitivity and positive support is required for victims.

- Religious – Attacking faith, belief, religious practice or custom. Special Educational Needs and Disability – remarking upon, drawing attention to, or discriminating against persons with physical disabilities or learning difficulties or other identified special educational needs such as emotional and behavioural disabilities (EBD) and Specific Learning Difficulties (SLD) - (Dyslexia, Dyscalculia and Dyspraxia).

3.5. Verbal - Name-calling, sarcasm, spreading rumours, making snide comments, teasing, humiliating others, threatening others, inciting others to humiliate and threaten others.

3.6. Written – Spreading rumours, writing or printing unkind or malicious on paper.

5. Purpose - Aims and Objectives

5.1. To seek to create a culture in which bullying of any kind is not accepted by anyone.

5.2. To enable all staff to understand what constitutes bullying.

5.3. We make it clear to Individuals, staff and parents that bullying is completely unacceptable. We strongly believe, as part of our behaviour policy, that Individuals have the right to study in a safe, supportive and secure environment, free from physical threats, verbal taunts and any form of harassment. Incidents of bullying threaten this and cause enormous stress to victims. We are therefore strongly committed to the avoidance of bullying in all its forms.

5.4. To provide a clear framework for dealing with incidents of bullying, ensuring that bullies are dealt with swiftly and firmly. Our straightforward procedures make it easy to report bullying, including cyber bullying and bullying outside of school. Therefore if bullying does occur, Individuals should be able to tell, and know that incidents will be dealt with promptly and effectively.

5.5. For all staff to be vigilant in recognising if bullying is taking place, and deal with it thoroughly and with sensitivity. Our aim is to promote positive relationships amongst all and to develop a culture in which individuals are listened to and their concerns taken seriously.

5.6. We believe that the principle means of prevention is through the maintenance of conditions where bullying is less likely to flourish and is more easily detected. All Individuals are known to us personally and it is therefore easier for us to detect signs of possible distress. Moreover, we feel that it is important that they have free and informal access to the Head of Service and other staff. This can be seen in the procedures we adopt. However, a formal anti-bullying policy is of utmost importance. We aim to promote a transparency in human relationships so that children and young people, by default, are held to account for the feelings they may evoke in others.

- 5.7. This policy applies to all activities both on and away from the location.
- 5.8. In the event of bullying taking place among the staff, the Head of Service should be informed and appropriate decisions made with possible reference to the relevant Employment Policies and Procedures. Accusations of bullying of an Individual by members of staff will be investigated thoroughly.
- 5.9. Members of staff to whom disclosures are made should initiate the following procedures themselves and/or consult with the relevant staff as appropriate. All disclosures, whether from an Individual, a parent, a member of staff or a volunteer should be taken seriously and treated with sensitivity. The victim(s) should be made aware that their safety is considered to be of paramount importance.

6. Policy

- 6.3. To make young people, parents / carers and staff aware of what steps to take when an incident of bullying has occurred.
- 6.4. To demonstrate to bullies that their behaviour is unacceptable and to reassure victims that action will be taken to keep them safe, which includes strategies to address bullies' problematic behaviour in a fair, firm, non-oppressive manner and to provide them with support to enable them to change their behaviour.
- 6.5. To clarify issues of responsibility for responding to incidents of bullying and to emphasise to staff, young people, parents and other interested parties the company's 'zero tolerance' attitudes towards bullying behaviour.

- 6.9. To ensure that each Individual is treated fairly and with respect.
- 6.10. Bullying can take place between pupil and pupil, staff and staff and staff and pupil. We consider the pastoral care of the pupils and staff to be of prime importance. In class, this role largely rests with the class teacher. It is school policy that any misdemeanour will be dealt with by the member of staff present when it occurs, whether in the playground, classroom, cloakroom or any part of the school. A common code of behaviour is expected from everyone at Grateley House School (see Behaviour Policy). All staff and volunteers at Grateley House School are expected to treat each other with a professional level of respect. The term 'bullying' is commonly associated with acts of violence but non-physical bullying is experienced by many pupils at some period during their school career. We believe that all children and staff should be able to work and play without any fear of being bullied by any other person. Bullying is not tolerated and all accusations are to be taken seriously and dealt with. Bullying can take place between pupil and pupil, staff and staff and staff and pupil.
