

Celebrating a Love of Reading: A Wonderful Library Visit

What a joy it has been over the past few days to accompany the boys on a special trip to the library. Each child had the opportunity to explore, discover, and choose their very own books—a simple yet powerful experience that nurtures independence and fosters a lifelong love of reading.

We are proud to share that all of the boys were an absolute credit to our school. Their behaviour was impeccable throughout, from the walk to the library to their time spent browsing the shelves. It was heartwarming to see their enthusiasm and curiosity as they engaged with the wide world of books available to them.

Visits like these are not just outings—they are essential steps in building confident, thoughtful readers. We are already looking forward to our next library adventure before the summer break.

Well done to all involved—keep reading and keep exploring!
