

Outcomes:

- To explore the Natural History Museum and learn.
- Behave well in public.
- Team building
- Learn about democracy and the laws of the land
- See the sights and sounds of London

On Monday 6 October, six children and five adults, from Wisbech Cambian School, travelled down to London to visit the Houses of Parliament and the Natural History Museum. The day started with a tube ride to Westminster (which was an education in itself) and from where we went into the Houses of Parliament. We went into the 'Robing Room' first, where King Charles puts on his ceremonial gowns before attending parliament. Then we were shown the House of Lords (where the laws are checked) before going into the House of Commons (where the laws are made). Then we went into the Great Hall, where Henry the Eighth used to play tennis. After lunch, on the Embankment, we took a bus (top deck, of course!) to the Natural History Museum, where we split up to explore different parts of the museum. A final tube ride took us back to our cars, where some of us had very quiet journeys and others, not so much! A truly memorable day!

Quotes:

I love being on the top deck!

That tower (Big Ben) is massive!

Oh wow! (on seeing the skeleton of the whale in the Natural History Museum)

