Description of trip: Just a short walk... famous last words. We managed to walk 4.75 miles around the village of Terrington Saint Clement. We shared the map navigation into three to make it fair, each taking a turn at leading the group. We used the features of open land, churches, Post Office symbols and schools to navigate around the village. We spent time orientating our map to help us find our way. It was a very cold day and on reflection we have to remember to wrap up warm and remember hats and gloves for future walks. When spirits were low a couple of us enjoyed singing as we walked along. But at least it stayed dry for us. It was great to see the van again and we couldn't wait to get in to enjoy the warmth of the heaters. It was a quiet journey home with tired legs and cold faces that turned to warm bodies fast asleep. We all earned our lunch of Mac and cheese.

Quotes:

"It is so cold"

"Let's sing!"

"Do you notice all the white on the map? That shows open fields"
