Today we made a trip to Sandringham Park it was very quiet and windy there but luckily; we all had our coats.

We all had turns going into the tower and coming down from the slide we then played a bit of hide and seek around the park.

It was fun trying to balance ourselves while we walked along the rope bridge we kept on tripping and dropping off but then attempted to get back on till we were able to walk it completely.

Quotes:

Can you push up?

Ima try and climb up there

You have to walk in a straight line
