

Green Class has come back to school ready to learn! Both learners are taking part in daily routines and accessing all areas of the curriculum. They know what is expected of them and understand cues for transitioning between activities within the classroom. If I set up the classroom for circle time and dim the lights, both learners come and take their places and show that they are ready.

During this week's circle time we have learned the Makaton signs for 'Yes' and 'No', and used our senses to explore changes in the season.
