

Outcomes:

- To Explore and learn.
- Behave well in public.
- Enjoy a visit to a National Trust property.

Description of trip: We have been to Oxburgh Hall many times before and it is definitely a favourite of ours. Our teacher claimed she ordered the weather. It was a very sunny and bright day. Perfect for enjoying the beautiful grounds of Oxburgh Hall. We went for a walk around and practiced our tree climbing skills. Our teacher joined us in the tree. We then explored the hall itself for the first time. One of the guides showed us the secret door, which was a fake bookcase. As we wandered, we chose our favourite rooms. One pupil liked the windows that jutted out over the moat and said he would be able to fish from there. Our favourite part of the tour was the hidey-hole for the priests. Catholics were persecuted in the late 1400's and many priests had to hide. The hidey-hole was tiny and couldn't be opened from the inside, so the priest could have died, if he was forgotten about. We finished our trip with a walk. We found a hut in the woods with books in about wildlife. One pupil sat and did some key read. On the way back to the van we playing Poohsticks on the stream. Thank you Cambian!

Quotes:

"Look at the secret door."

"Come join us in the tree Lucy"

"Can I take a picture of the daffodils?"

