Description of trip: Today's trip was such fun and probably our favourite this term. This week we went to 'The Hangar' at Lynnsport. It is a climbing wall. We all spent some time going through the safety by getting our harnesses on and listening to the safety briefing. It was soon time to climb the walls, literally. It was nerve wracking at first. We got warmed up with the easier walls to climb, where the hand pulls were easier to grip and they were also closer together. Then we started to get a little competitive. One of the instructors showed us how to climb the arch, so it was time to put our climbing skills to the test and challenge ourselves. He made it look so easy. We enjoyed climbing it then swinging our way down. The boys decided to compete on how high they could climb on the more difficult walls and also had races up the wall to see who could get to the top the quickest. It was like something off of Gladiators. To finish the day off, we went back to Sunny Hunny to collect our pottery pieces. Thank you Cambian for a great half term!
