

Easter Fun Brings Smiles Across Whinfell

Easter fun was had at Whinfell, the house was full of laughter and excitement. Young people and staff joined together for games and friendly competition, with smiles and high spirits all round.

Highlights included a very competitive Easter egg hunt that had everyone exploring the house and working together to find hidden treats.

The clear favourite, though, was the classic “Fluffy Bunnies” challenge — seeing who could fit the most marshmallows in their mouth while trying to say “fluffy bunny.” The boys absolutely loved it, and the room was full of giggles (and a few playful groans from staff afterwards!).

This event was a lovely example of the staff working together to create a calm, nurturing social activity that helps young people build relationships and practise communication in a relaxed setting.

This was just the beginning of the celebrations with an action-packed week of Easter activities planned.
